

Climate Grant Writing Workshop

Dear Oklahoma tribal environmental professionals and tribal grant writers,

The South Central Climate Science Center in conjunction with the University of Oklahoma-Center for Research Program Development and Enrichment and Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma would like to offer a series of climate science grant writing workshops for Native American tribes in Oklahoma this summer. The purpose of the workshops is to educate tribal environmental staff and tribal grant writers on how to write a successful grant to address their climate science needs (vulnerability assessments, adaptation plans, water sustainability, etc.) and potential partnering opportunities with the South Central Climate Science Center.

Please follow the link below to a brief survey that will help in determining the focus of the workshops. To assist in our planning, we would appreciate your responses on or before Friday, February 28th. The survey should take less than 5 minutes.

Follow this link for survey: https://ousurvey.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_6PfXXzT8fRelyWV

(If you are interested in some basic introduction to grant writing courses to consider before our climate science grant writing workshops, there is a general grant writing list available here:

http://www.southcentralclimate.org/content/documents/Basic_Grant_Writing_Resources.pdf)

Thank you,

April Taylor

South Central Climate Science Center

Alicia Knoedler and Todd Fuller

University of Oklahoma

Dana Bonham

Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma